The mighty Indus Valley Civilization which dates as far back as 3000 BC reveals a high level of civic and hygiene standards. The artefacts from the IVC & Decorative Arts Collection at National Museum show how cleanliness has always been a part of our culture.

Well, Mahatma Gandhi influenced and communicated his idea of cleanliness to the nation. He wanted to connect the society through cleanliness and knew that it is important to connect with the masses and he did it through his unending work on cleanliness. He asked people to pledge 'na main gandagi karoonga, na main gandagi karne doonga' (I shall not litter and won't allow anyone to do so).
